

Queen of Hearts

The Birthday Massacre

He puts the gun to her head
She tells him everything
Her voice is haunted like a dream
He sews the crack in his heart
Before he tears her apart
In the basement underneathHe says,
Never say no to meHe burns her high school pictures
And buries old dreams
He reads her diary once more
He cleans the tears from her eyes
He still can't stand to see her cry
Her face is broken and soreHe says,
Never say no to me
