

Into the Storm

Obey the Brave

I'm marching onward into the storm.
Black clouds, red skies. A vision of my world's demise.
In every smile, a desperate cry.
Should I keep on or let hope die?
When it rains it pours. When it rains it pours.
A never ending self-reform.
I'm marching onward into the storm.
One life, one love gotta do it right.
Rise above, step into that light.
Just let it go and take flight.
Let it rain, let it wash away the pain.
Strength, I'll regain.
I'm marching onward into the storm.
Clenched fist, closed eyes.
The reaper marches in disguise.
A haunting voice inside my head
That keeps on wishing I was dead.
When it rains it pours. When it rains it pours.
A never ending self-reform.
I'm marching onward into the storm.
One life, one love gotta do it right.
Rise above, step into that light.
Just let it go and take flight.
Let it rain, let it wash away the pain.
Strength, I'll regain.
Back in control, I will never fold.
From cold soul to heart of gold!
Ups and downs, I slipped.
Lost my grip and I fell.
I fell down knee deep in hell.
Ups and downs, I picked myself up.
Always kept my head up.
Through the ups and downs, I'll head northbound.
Stand tall. Stand your ground.
Through the ups and downs, I'll head northbound.
Stand tall. Stand your ground.
Through the ups and downs, turn it around.
My thoughts are turning black.
Can't give in, can't hold back.

Struggling within, one more panic attack.
I will face my fears, there will be no tears.
This is my legacy! This is my bravery!
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>