

Rainy Day Song

Andrew Combs

I've loved strangers, dodged deals and danger Searching for my own little piece of country side to the slick city streets And I miss my hometown, been high and low down Learned every which way of the game, how somethings do and some don't change Safe to say that I'm still crazy over you Your love it gets me through When I'm stuck in life's crazy glue Well ain't it funny how a little thunder
Can make a man start to wonder Should he swim or just go under And ain't it funny how you learn to pray when your blue skies turn grey
When there's nothing left to say Shine on rainy day mmmmmmmmmmm A friend once told me he said boy you sound so lonely all these cheatin', leavin', done me wrongs have you ever heard of a happy song Well, offended I set down my glass, smiled and let the moment pass Tab's on me if you think I'm lying laughing ain't a pleasure till you know bout crying Well ain't it funny how a little thunder
can make a man start to wonder should he swim or just go under And ain't it funny how you learn to pray
when your blue skies turn grey
When there's nothing left to say
Shine on rainy day Shine on rainy day

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>