

Tokyo

Lust for Youth

Tokyo, reflections in your eyes
We both smile and move in closer
While the sunrise drives ahead
Morning shows and hotel TV
Here's your clothes we leave the car key
Maybe one day, maybe one day I go, but still timeless ties unite us
I realized this morning
Soaked in city rain
Just what we leave behind us
But time will reunite us
Again, again See, I wrote one best seller
Rain drops on your clear umbrella
Walking through the streets of Shujuku
In airport lines white shoes are drying
Smoking clove and killing time
I never fully thought i'd watch you say
But maybe one day, maybe one day I go, but still timeless ties unite us
I realized this morning
Soaked in city rain
Just what we leave behind us
But time will reunite us
Again, again
