A Strange Day

Apoptygma Berzerk

Give me your eyes that I might see
Blind man kissing my hands
The sun is humming my head turns to dust
As he plays on his knees
As he plays on his kneesThe sand and the sea grows
I close my eyes
Move slowly through drowning waves
Going away on a strange dayAnd I laugh as I drift in the wind
Blind dancing on a beach of stone
Cherish the faces as they wait for the end
A sudden hush across the water
And we're here againThe sand and the sea grows
I close my eyes
Move slowly through drowning waves
Going away on a strange day[Incomprehensible]
And the sky and the impossible explodeHeld for one moment I remember a song
An impression of sound
Then everything is gone foreverStrange day
Strange day
