

A Letter to Myself

The Chi-Lites / The Whispers

Write a letter, write another letter
Write a letter, write another letter
Write a letter I'm sealing up this letter
I just finished signing your name
My friends would all be surprised
If they knew I was playing this game I'll pretend it's a special delivery
And just to give me a hint
I'll use your favorite color
Smear it with your favorite scent And I know you'd think that I'm crazy
But I can't lose what have I left
So I've decided to write this letter
And send it to myself So to make my story short
In the mail box I will place
This letter that I wrote
And it's stamped with your lovely face When I'm alone
And I need someone to talk to
I talk to your picture Get me a pencil and paper
And write all the things
Say all the things
I've heard you say before But with a little extra
Extra read all about it
Sugar and spice
I guess it makes me feel kind of nice I write a letter to myself
Oh, write another letter to myself
I write another letter to myself
Oh, I write another letter to myself What is a home when you're all alone
It seems so full, it seems so full but so empty Oh, I put on the coat, leave you a note
And go to the places, places, places where we used to be
I pretend you are there, order dinner for two
Your very presence is all in the air I write a letter to myself
Oh, write another letter to myself
I write another letter to myself
Oh, I write another letter to myself I write another letter to myself
Write another letter to myself
I write another letter to myself
Oh, I write another letter to myself I write another letter to myself
Write another letter to myself
Write another letter to myself
Write another letter to myself
