

A Spider's Web (Demo)

Rage

(Music by P. Wagner, S. Fischer, S. Efthimiadis / Lyrics by P. Wagner)

This world's so materialistic, our life just makes sense when we buy.
You're just a part of the statistics
when there's a red line on your bank account, your cash runs out.
Half the population blinds their eyes.
They pretend a credit gives them wealthiness, consume contest
Just like a spider's web
Just like a spider's web
you try to get out but it holds you tighter
Just like a spider's web
Just like a spider's web
you try to get out but it holds you tight like all of this borrowed existences,
how can they sleep in the night.
They are afraid when the bell rings.
They're working half their lives to pay it back, still heart attack
Half the population blinds their eyes.
They believe a credit gives them wealthiness, consume contest
Just like a spider's web...
you try to get out but it gets you tight like death...
