

Insomniacs Lullaby

Ed Sheeran

I'm getting very edgy
Cos you're trying to take this from me
And it's something that I wanted so bad
Cos you're the definition
Of someone who has to ruin
The best thing that I ever had
Cos you're a jealous girl
And all I can say is
It's your fault but partially mine
For losing hope
For not treating you right
But that will disappear in time All I gotta do is pass you by
Never say what's wrong
Whenever I say why?
Standing in the corner
Shadowed by the light
To you I seem much smaller
But I know it might be you
How much better could I do
To be myself, not someone else?
I'm losing sleep
I live only for the week I've grown to ignore you
Cos when I seem to bore you
You pretend that you're not interested
Your eyes start to twinkle
Your smile starts to widen
And I just seem to try and forget
But you pay me no attention
Even though I do
But I don't care as long as you're mine
It's happening every time
All I gotta do is pass you by
Never say what's wrong
Whenever I say why? Standing in the corner
Shadowed by the light
To you I seem much smaller
But I know it might be you
How much better could I do
To be myself, not someone else?

I'm losing sleep
I live only for the week And I'm falling harder now it seems
My slip-ups haunt me in my dreams
And I can't sleep although I think I can It's insomnia I think I have
But who cares when I'm not your man? Standing in the corner
To you I seem much smaller
But I know it might be you
To be myself, not someone else?
I'm losing sleep
I live only for the week
