

Ghost on the Dance Floor

blink-182

I'll never let you down boy, I'll never let you go.
Her subtle hint of life is so innocent and scary.
So tell me that you're here boy, she says as if she knows.
When God took her with time, God made me quite alone.
It's like the universe has left me, without a place to go.
Without a hint of light, to watch the movement glow.
Where the song was slowly starting, the memory felt so real.
At first against my will, but God invented chills.
Yeah I, I saw your ghost tonight, the moment felt so real.
If your eyes stay right on mine, my wounds would start to heal.

The kids are in a hurry and I'm just full of fear.
The lights make bodies blurry, it's getting hard enough to hear.
It's like the evidence is cared for, and evidently clear.
If I never leave this dance floor, I'll never leave you here.
Yea I, I saw your ghost tonight, the moment felt so real.
If your eyes stay right on mine, my wounds would start to heal.
I felt your ghost tonight, and God it felt like hell.
To know you're almost mine, but dreams are all I feel.
Yea I, I saw your ghost tonight, it fucking hurt like hell.
I felt you here tonight, but dreams can't all be real.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>