Suffer My Disbelief

Callenish Circle

I'm hearing your reproachful words Within seconds my rage is blackening me out This feeling is way too much for me I'm crying out my disbelief Can't handle you showing discontent After all this time you do not know me at all Can't you just handle the truth You're letting me down forevermore Reality becoming crystal-clear Don't bother me with your pathetic dreams You stigmatised my fate I would die for seeing you suffer my disbelief This is the end of the line Not endless after all You've got to get away from here Far away from here
