

Fear of the Unknown

Devastation

a dark creation of my dreams beneath the surface the evil brings unforeseen thoughts of what will be
    life or death or eternity
    paranoia is no answer
the truth can't hide behind the question what's to come and what's to be my afterlife what's in store for metime stands still as it's slipping away unanswered questions make me wonder the way living in fear a predetermined destiny the meaning of life is my own realityreincarnation, i just can't see coming back as another being god is there is he for me a savior for my life to be nothingness the worst fear of all where dead is dead and i can't be saved destined to lay decaying away inside i'm still living day after daycast into nonexistence hear my cries fear of the unknown what is life what i am wings of tribulation pull the life from my eyes now i'm gone nothing but an afterthoughtmy fate is only what's in store for me the blood of innocence shall set me free reborn as my soul will grow i must die dreams foretold my fate now i visualize sacraments of written lore interpret manings of life before feel the pain experience the question are we dead or in suspension time stands still as it's slipping away
the meaning of life is my own realitycast into nonexistence hear my cries
    fear of the unknown what is life what i am
now i'm gone nothing but an afterthoughtsubjugate life's restraint
    no escape
    drawing nearer to the end
    lives in sin

death begins
soul descends
eternally my life is lost the sands of time are running low each step draws closer to the end where does time begin and where does it end my only instinct once was survive i've lost the will and the struggle inside breakdown the barrier of this life that surround me destroying life and all it's worth the end is here i await my rebirth a dark creation of my dreams
now i'm gone nothing but an afterthought in infiltrate terms of hate
sealed by fate
meant to suffer or set free eternity
dependency
calling me
i can't stand what i can't see
