Meet Your Master

Nine Inch Nails

Bow down in position against the polished steel
This is something different, you'll like the way this feels
No time for asking questions, no time for wondering
We've heard enough from you now, we've heard everythingWe're going to play a new game, you'll put on this blindfold
You'll do what we tell you, you'll do as you're told Used to be the leader but now comes the time to serve
Maybe we show some mercy, maybe you get what you deserveCount down to the end, gotta make it come faster
Right around the bend is a coming disaster
Count down to the end and we're headed there faster
Come on down my friend, it's time to meet your masterYou've left quite a mess here under your stewardship
You thought you'd figured it out but you'll learn your place in this Might take some convincing for you to see the truth
There are so many things now we've got in store for youCount down to the end, gotta make it come faster
Right around the bend is a coming disaster
Count down to the end and we're headed there faster
Come on down my friend, it's time to meet your masterCome on down, come on down, come on down
Come on down, come on down, come on down
Come on down, come on down, come on down
...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/