Process

Diskodiktator

Standing at a railway station embraced by a night so cold I've been traveling almost every nation but I still haven't found those stories you told All the knowledge I've been seeking all the misery I have found The commandment of reality made me stumble to the ground

But don't forget, it takes a lot to change
it's hard to rearrange
the modern process

CHORUS
I know it's hard leaving all your memories behind but you?ve got to try to change your mind

It's time to set, the wheels in motion
I think it's time to depart It's time to change my worn-out notions to ease the pain inside my heart
All the knowledge I've been seeking
all the misery I have found The commandement of reality
made me stumble to the ground

But don't forget, it takes a lot to change
it's hard to rearrange
the modern process

REPEAT CHORUS

Lyrics submitted by Tako.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/