Open Your Heart

C.B. Milton

You're everything that I was never ever meant to hold you are the stories, every riddle that I was never told don't you wanna know what is right behind the door

open your heart to unexpected love open your heart to unexpected, long neglected love you are the unknown, all that's hidden in love's equation you are the sound in the silence of cruel sensation

don't you wanna know

like slippery stones under bare feet a twist of fate walked over me sharp intrusion never meant to be now I'm calling falling craving raving...

open your heart to unexpected, long neglected love
open - up - your - heart open - up
open - up - your - heart
open - up
