

The Drop

Peter Gabriel

Moving down the fuselage
Toward the open door
Catch you looking down outside
To see what lies ahead One by one
You watch them fall
Fall through cloud
One by one
You watch them fall
No idea where they're going
But down Where they've gone
Where they've gone Watching as the sun goes down
I sit inside this plane
Notice how the city lights
Are like the nerves inside the brain One by one
They're going out
You watch them dim One by one You watch them fall
And wonder where they're falling to
