Come Home

Valdi Sabev

We say its okay and to leave it alone
But I want you to notice this case isn't closed Doors are open, the lights are left on
And there's never a night I sleep
With the dreams that Id have if you never decided, decided to leave
There's never an ounce that I breathe without thinking about who I could have been with you.
There's never an ounce that I breathe without thinking about who I could have been if you didn't leave.
The phones been patient to hear your call
But you never touch the dial
You never touch the dial
So now I know
There's someone I wish walked through these halls
But you'll never take the chance to come home
So come home
We say we can learn from this
But I just don't know what to do without you anymore
Your absence is taking its toll on me
What I should believe
I just cant believe
There's never an ounce that I breathe without thinking about who I could have been with you.
There's never an ounce that I breathe without thinking about who I could have been if you didn't leave.
The phones been patient to hear your call
But you never touch the dial
You never touch the dial
So now I know
There's someone I wish walked through these halls
But you'll never take the chance to come home

So come home
You say it isn't my fault so I steer away
I put off the pain for another day
Did you think it wouldn't be tough?
8 years was never enough
Ill wait for you
If you never change I will be okay
But Ill still stay up for you
Just in case you make the time for the right move.
The phones been patient to hear your call
But you never touch the dial

You never touch the dial
So now I know
There's someone I wish walked through these halls
But you'll never take the chance to come home
So come home
There's someone I wish walked through these halls
The phones been patient to hear your call
But you never touch the dial
You never touch the dial
So now I know
Theres someone I wish walked through these halls
But you never touch the dial
You never touch the dial
And now I know
The phones been patient to hear your call
But you'll never take the chance to come home
But you'll never take the chance to come home
Just come home
