

Apache

Nuclear Valdez

When I was younger than today
Life was different in so many ways
Thoughts were bright
And thoughts were clear

And the wind always blew away my fears
But clouds keep forming in my eyes
All I see are tears I've cried

Now I'm always looking back
Why happiness got a little off track
Why simple things just disappear
And the wind stopped blowing away my fears
And future years have so much speed
Why we have so much to need

Cause I'm afraid of falling down
And getting burnt with the flame
Of experiences now
And I believe that things today
Might slowly drift away

Now times have changed
And so changed me
Now I must walk with dignity
I must be strong, I must have pride
Even though I'm lost inside
Then I'll find my road
I'll find my wind
Find the missing boy within

Cause I'm afraid of falling down
And getting burnt with the flame
Of experiences now
And I believe that things today
Might slowly drift away

Lyrics submitted by Michael.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>