Silent Life

Fruit Bats

There's a light beyond the the sticks and stones
Past the piles of broken bones
It could melt a frozen heart
If it needs to be soIt's the place to cut the weeds and wires
And dodge the thorns and quills
It's the place divides divide
Where the rivers stand stillIt is time to weather stormy seas
And suck the venom clear
We could clean the poison veins
And while we are hereWe could shake the buzzards off out tails
And keep the snakes at bay
Hear the sirens fade and the thunder rumble away
Hear the sirens fade and the thunder rumble awayIt's the place tectonic plates will pass each other not to touch
That's the sound of the new silent life
It's the place where all divides divide and the rivers all stand still
That's the sound of the new silent lifeThat's the sound of the new silent life
That's the sound of the new silent life
That's the sound of the new silent life
That's the sound of the new silent life
That's the sound of the new silent life
That's the sound of the new silent life
