

Not My Own

Bread of Stone

I'm holding on clinging to this life of mine
Afraid to move waiting for the right time
The days of our lives are passing
Just wasting the hourglass sand

I close my eyes try to escape from the truth
But still I see the reality I must go through
The only thing that I have to offer is my weakness
So Lord give me strength

CHORUS:

With these hands I lift You high
I want to live my life to make You known
I'm giving everything of mine
'Cause its Yours and not my own

No more waiting for answers or searching around for a sign
You have given me life in exchange for the wreckage of mine
And the only thing that I had to offer was my weakness
And You gave me strength
