

On My Way Home to You

Michael Franks

So often as I wait for sleep I find myself reciting
The words I've said or should have said
Like scenes that need rewriting The smiles I never answered
Doors perhaps I should have opened
Songs forgotten in the morning I relived the roles I've played
The tears I may have squandered
The many pipers I have paid along the roads I wandered Yet all the time I knew it
Love was somewhere out there waiting
Though I may regret a kiss or two
