She

ZOEgirl

She grew up without very much
She didn't know who her father was
She met a boy and her heart he stole
So she gave him all her body and her soulShe's not ready to face
The outcome of their mistake
It's brought her nothing but pain

And she's too young for this fateShe's alone

Could have been the undertow

Where it takes her no one knows

That's how it goes, that's how it goes

When we throw stonesPeople deny and criticize

They sent her away isolated

Caught in a bad dream

Perfectly rejected

They left her alone and neglectedThey put her out on display

Showcasing all her mistakes

She's worn out and she's afraid

Why does it always happen this way? She's alone

Could have been the undertow

Where it takes her no one knows

That's how it goes, that's how it goes

When we throw stonesShe went to them for help

But blindly they cast the first stone

They could have taken her in

Instead they left her on her own

All aloneShe's alone

Could have been the undertow

Where it takes her no one knows

That's how it goes, that's how it goesShe's alone

Could have been the undertow

Where it takes her no one knows

That's how it goes, that's how it goesShe's alone

Could have been the undertow

Where it takes her no one knows

That's how it goes, that's how it goesWhen we throw stones at the wounded

When we throw stones at the broken hearted

When we throw stones at the wounded

That's how it goes, that's how it goes That's how it goes, when we throw stones

When we throw stones at the wounded

That's how it goes, when we throw stones

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/