

Lonely

Ghostface Killah

Don't be surprised when you see me 'round town
Walking around with my head hung down
I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely And don't be surprised if you see me on the train
Like a homeless man who's lost his way
I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely On this cold pavement I feel like laying
In the middle of the street and just saying
I can't take it, I won't make it
Too much weight on my shoulders and my kids are getting older For so long I've been so strong
I've been crying all week since you've been gone
And as the tears roll out my eyes
Another happy young couples walks by Don't be surprised when you see me 'round town
Walking around with my head hung down
I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely And don't be surprised if you see me on the train
Like a homeless man who's lost his way
I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely Someone been sleeping in my bed, eating my food
Using my soap, laying up in my pool
Walking around in his boxers like every thing's cool
Gassing my chick for the whip dropping her off at school Under my covers and changing my channels
Playing my CD's in my robes, another man's burning my candles
My cologne's half way gone, a fake don my wiz fell for Now she strolls the park under his arm This is my fault, I've never thought I'd see this coming
From the outside bugging with crazy knots in my stomach
Say what goes around, comes around, now I know it now
Now I'm the fool looking in while it's going down If somebody would of told me I might be lonely
Now it's on me, baby call me please Don't be surprised when you see me 'round town
Walking around with my head hung down
I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely And don't be surprised if you see me on the train
Like a homeless man who's lost his way
I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely Now he's getting all my kisses, stroking my loving
That 'posed to be me but I was too stupid and stubborn
Like a piece of rope I let it go, my mother said it so
You better straighten up don't act like you didn't know Her birthday came, heard she was hugged up wearing his chain
Play in the sky box at some bullshit Knick game
My son said, daddy, he like his eggs well done
And he kinda cool, mommy happy, I can't front He take us on trips and clothes shopping, most of the time
We watch flicks on your surround sound, he watch boxing
You better go beg or something before she go love him
He's taking your spot 'cause you was dissing mommy you bugging They don't argue, he sent her flowers for no reason

She's cheesing, I'm wishing you could come back and see this Don't be surprised when you see me 'round town

Walking around with my head hung down

I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely And don't be surprised if you see me on the train

Like a homeless man who's lost his way

I'm so lonely, I'm so lonely
