Kings and Queens

MisterWives

Overflow fill me up all the way
So there's no space to remain
Flood the thoughts that have tainted
All the good that life has painted
Setting free from captivity
What binded hopes, meant to be
Casting out what's newly found
Go and scream and shout it loud

No no no no no
Never ever gunna get to break me down
Had me on the ground,
Shaking underneath was a roaring sound
Growing rapidly
Was the speed of rebirthed
Kings and queens

Constellations opened up
How fragile our existence is
To be so small but feel so grand
Exploring you, ignoring commands
Timeless clocks will eventually
Come to a stop
Breathe you in Resonate what lies between good and sin

Reflections becoming inspections
Of what you as and what's really there
Eyes dressed in disguise
As portals to life and it's demise
Wonder as loud as thunder
Light showed the insight
