Cloudy

Sullivan

Stop me now because the room is spinning
I can't get out of bed
Don't look at me now, I'm just a weak beginning
Something that never endsJust open your eyes and tell me
That the world is turning
I don't want to leave
I'm aching inside for another chance
To prove I'm ready for your retreatWhoa, what was he last thing that you said?
"Why does it always end this way?"
She says, "Don't be late"And you better believe that you better be here
And you better believe that I'm counting
All the places you go
When you're walking the streets aloneAnd the last time you said, "Wait a second here"
I ended at the bottom of your parent's pool
I know, I know I lost my mind
But I'm better off this timeThere's these thoughts pinned up deep inside of us
I say we break 'em out
And I'll fight for the right of the last man standing
If you'll have him around"What now?", follows a blank expression
"Where do we go from here?"
Can we pay for mistakes that we've not yet made
If we've made it this far then we're not yet savedWhat was the last thing that you said?
"Why does it always end this way"
Hope it's not too lateAnd you better believe that you better be here
And you better believe that I'm counting
All the places you go
When you're walking the streets aloneThe last time you said, "Wait a second here"
I ended at the bottom of your parent's pool
I know, I know I lost my mind
But I'm better off this time
I'm better off this timeI lost my mind
I lost my mindJust open your eyes on a cloudy day
Just open your eyes
(Just open your eyes)
Just open your eyes
(Just open your eyes)Stop me now because the room is spinning
(Just open your eyes)
I can't get out of bed
Don't look at me now, I'm just a weak beginning

(Just open your eyes)
Something that never endsJust open your eyes
Just open your eyes
(Just open your eyes)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/