

Our Window

Noah & The Whale

Well, it's four in the morning, things are getting heavy
And we both know that it's over but we're both not ready
And you're talking like a stranger so I don't know what to do
And I'm callous and I'm cruel to everyone but youThe stars shining through our window
The stars shining through our window
And it's been a while since I stared at the stars
Yeah, it's been a while since I stared at the starsSpring can be the cruelest of months
But bringing in new life, yeah we're promising so much
Like the pledge that you gave when you said that you'd always love me
But we both know by autumn you're like the color of leavesThe stars shining through our window
The stars shining through our window
And it's been awhile since I stared at the stars
Yeah, it's been awhile since I stared at the stars
