Ludicrous Smiles

Saviour Machine

Sanity falls by the knife That lacerates the brain Listen to the pain Touch the empty spaces within our hearts And see the dream is our reality Stand upon the edge, fall into the water Drift upon the sea, pray for all the others Suffering to see The ludicrous smiles on our faces Show nothing remains In fortress surrounding the dream The ludicrous smiles in our eyes See the fall of the rain And the coming of what is to be The lunatic hides in the night >From the man of the sane In a world that imprisons the free Terrified of what he sees The ludicrous smiles, the ludicrous smiles Smiles over me Shadows may follow the man One thing is leading the others Follow the veil in my hand Nothing deceiving my brothers Look into my eyes, walk into my vision Drift upon the streams, enter vast dominions Welcome to my dream The ludicrous smiles on our faces Show nothing remains In fortress surrounding the dream The ludicrous smiles in our eyes See the fall of the rain And the coming of what is to be The lunatic hides in the night >From the man of the sane In a world that imprisons the free Terrified of what he sees The ludicrous mind
