Into the Sunset

Lancifer

There was a boy
He was a young boy
He took his shirt off in the rain
And he started to swayHe'd reached for the raindrops
That fell through the air
He didnt seem to have a care
In the whole wide worldAnd everyone he touched would turn to gold
And every time he loved his heart would explode
Then one day he climbed so high to touch the sky
And it carried him awayAnd everyone he touched would turn to gold
And every time he loved his heart would explode
Then one day he climbed so high to touch the sky
It carried him awayThere was a boy
He was a young boy
He took his shirt off in the rain
He was funny that wayOne, two, three, four

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/