For Nobody to Hear

Sandy Denny

Although the flames, they are so dim
I can see them from over here
But this is no time to worry now
No time to shed a tearThe people are all smiling
And the letters are all too
The flowers they are all arranged
And the notes they are all blueWhere are the words to say to you?
Where do they all begin?
I should not have a lot to lose
And everything to winAnd I want you to be smiling
I want you not to cry
And even if I hide away
Then you'll get the notion whyA symphony, I learned at school
In pigeonholes so clear
But it made me for to write no songs
For nobody to hearAnd I see you are all smiling
Even in the candle light
Just close your eyes and fall asleep
And I think you'll be alrightClose your eyes and fall asleep
And I think you'll be alright

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/