Frozen Heart

Elisha J. King

Hey, I know you spend your nights up by the phone,
Check yours texts every minute or so.
How could you be alone with a smile like that All through the cracks
Yeah, the truth is that he'll never get you like I do.
It's a shame that you don't have a clue
After all of the things that you've been through.
Yeah, I've been there, tooI want you next to me
Give me a chance to break you free, yeah
Let me take your frozen heart,
Melt away your scars.
When waves are crashing overhead,
I'll find you where they start again,
and melt your frozen heartHey, I remember the time that you cried on the corner of Second and Vine
When you called me and asked for a ride
I swear I knew right there that I'm,
I'm the one that you needed the most,
But somehow I feel like a ghost,
But I want you to know that through the hardest days, I'll keep you safeI want you next to me
Give me a chance to break you free, yeah
Let me take your frozen heart
Melt away your scars
When waves are crashing overhead,
I'll find you where they start again
and melt your frozen heartSay, say that you'll stay
Say, say that you'll stay with me
Say that you'll never leaveSay, say that you'll stay
Say, say that you'll stay with me
Say that you'll never leaveLet me take your frozen heart
Melt away your scars.
When waves are crashing overhead,
I'll find you where they start again
and melt your frozen heart.
