

Gravity

One Time Mountain

You took everything that I ever had on the best day of my life now I'm suffering and I'm wondering what was it worth to you? another pawn loses power kings to you, for the hour but before I am through
I will get the best of you, I will find you and then bring you down You took me life and all dreams watched it all tear from the seams I will find you and, then bring you down. now I'm back again feels so different and there's no where you can run Taking everything that's mine wasted years of my time now I'm watching you fall another pawn loses power kings to you, for the hour but before I am through
I will get the best of you, I'll find you and
watched it all tear from the seams I'll find you and, then bring you down. Is it ever enough can I ever let go of this life that I've lived can you save my soul is it ever as it seems do the ends justify the means because this fire that's inside still keeps me alive but before I am through
I will get the best of you,
I'll find you and
I watched it all tear from the seams I will find you and, then bring you down.
