Bring Me Down

Lenka

I won't let this burden bring me downSo here we are again
Staring at the end of what we made and who we are Never knowing when
One of us will break apart and walk the other wayLove, I don't know what to say
Love, I don't know how to stay
When you won't let me be the person that I amThe writing's on the wall, there's nothing to say anymore
So I'll leave before I fall apart right back into your arms
The writing's on the wall, you gave nothing and I gave it all
But I want something better and I won't let this burden bring me downWhat are we to do?
What are we to say to one another now we're through?
Thanks for being you
Thanks for being all the things I had to say goodbye toI'm over being lied to I'm over being pushed into the Person that you want me to becomeThe writing's on the wall, there's nothing to say anymore
So I'll leave before I fall apart right back into your arms
The writing's on the wall, you gave nothing and I gave it all
But I want something better and I won't let this burden bring me downWhere did we go wrong?
We let it be so long
But now there's no point turning back, let's face the factsThe writing's on the wall, there's nothing to say anymore
So I'll leave before I fall apart right back into your arms
The writing's on the wall, you gave nothing and I gave it all
But I want something better and I won't let this burden bring me down
I won't let this burden bring me, I won't let this burden bring me down

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/