

INTRO BRAND NEW EYES

Paramore

So your father told you once
That you were his princess
But you won't see the castle
You cannot find your prince And now you've grown a lot
And your dresses don't fit right
Your daddy's not a hero
He stole your chariot So here you are in pieces
Trying to prove to us it's real
The softness of your smile
And the lies you want to feel And the scales beneath your skin
Are showing off today
There's evil in your heart
And it wants out to play There's evil in your heart
And it wants out to play There's evil in your heart. And I made a home here for me
Don't burn it down with your fantasies
And I made a home here for me
Don't burn it down with your fantasies.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>