Time Again for the Golden Sunset

The The

I used to be indecisive but now I'm not so sure
There's little sign of feeling when you look into their eyes
The politicians sighing that
"Nothing's going wrong in our world tonight Nothing, we don't understand"There's no point in speaking, help me if you can
Is this a retribution to compensate for a lack of understanding
I think we should pretend
That nothing's going wrong in our world tonight
Nothing, we don't understandAnd I'm doing the best that I can Am I locked up forever in a picture of despair?
I've put my spirit on to paper and into words
I've opened my eyes and I've realized who I really amI thought I loved you but I think I must be wrong
There's another feeling in my heart
This sense of pride is silencing my sorrow
I find it hard to come alive
When I'm hollowed out from the inside

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/