Golden

Scars On 45

i can be what you want me to be, i can act how you need me to act, I am caught by the space in between,
words you've not spoken, the words you've not spoken,together were golden everything will be alright together were golden as long there's you by my side together were golden everything will be alrighti can play what you want me to play i can lose when you need me to loose i sincerely hope your love wont fade away the bond is now broken the bond is now brokentogether were golden everything will be alright together were golden as long there's you by my side together were golden everything will be alrightlets run away

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/