Hallelujah

Ryan Adams

I've been a desperate man I've been sheltered by a lonely dream There's a stranger here Looking back above the bathroom sinkEvery night I throw you out Leave you stranded on the boulevard You know that I use you up I used you like I used a mopWell, the band's singing Hallelujah Hallelujah, Hallelujah You're all gone, yeah, you're all goneIf I could have a simple love How would it feel and what would it mean? I'd only trade you away For Mary MagdaleneOh, it wouldn't make me insane And it would make me the king And I wouldn't have to wait Wait around for the real thingWell, the band's singing Hallelujah Hallelujah, Hallelujah You're all gone, yeah, you're all goneHallelujah Hallelujah, Hallelujah You're all gone, oh yeah yeah, heyHallelujah Hallelujah, Hallelujah
