

Almost Home

Joe Scruggs

I woke up early this morning. Been sitting in the car all day. Coming home from vacation, and no ones got much to say. Then I see the lights of our city and we slow down for the speed zone. And I start to smile â€˜cause in just a short while, weâ€™ll be home. Yes weâ€™re almost home. Yes weâ€™re almost home. Iâ€™m gonna lay my head in my own bed â€˜cause weâ€™re almost home. My little puppy doggie will probably be wagging his tail. And thereâ€™ll be a stack of newspapers and probably a sack of mail. As we pass the corner grocery store, the neighborhood savings and loan, Iâ€™ve got a big smile â€˜cause in just a short while, weâ€™ll be home. And weâ€™re almost home. Weâ€™re almost home. Iâ€™m gonna lay my head tonight in my own bed â€˜cause weâ€™re almost home. All our friends running when they see that we are home. Some look just the same to me, but some look like theyâ€™ve grown. And I tell them of my adventures as we talk in sticks and stones. Then itâ€™s off to bed â€˜cause Iâ€™m a sleepy head; so glad to be home. And itâ€™s good to be home. Yes itâ€™s good to be home. Iâ€™m gonna lay my head tonight in my own bed. Yes weâ€™re almost home. Almost home.
