

Vampiring Again

Califone

A clean line moonlight bends a collarbone drink strung tight
Strung tight
Wheel along the artery the streetlights drift the eye-beams collide
Slow dissolve the car-chase draining gasoline shines a skin
Across the water
Barely touching now sad eyes when you're vampiring again carry your violence light carry the moonlight seed the sleep in
Your eye the blue of the pilot light
Mask maker herat fire eater throat rice water brain perfect stray perfect stray Dead friends shade your sad eyes when you're vampiring again by The cold unflattering light carry the glass in your jaw carry the flatlands in the base of your Spine the city is rusting there
The weather never cared barely touching now spilling down the Stairs for this time around Tight pretend imperfection imperfection imperfection carry your violence light carry it like a lost limb itches and aches
A second you can't forget
