

Translating The Name

Saosin

Oh start, send me grieves and before breathing
I have your voice on tape in a southern accent screaming at me
I was only one and we weren't prepared for people screaming.
(I have your voice on tape in a southern accent screaming at me)
Know things look lovely to you
Holding back, now and forever sweetheart
know things look lovely lonely boy holding for midnight and I deny
You were walking so peculiar like you had something to hide (still so deadly)[x2]
Sweet penance for a sound - it might explode in our hands I'm falling in a brown pigmentation of Where the element marked cut short, turned in and stopped

I've been watching rose giving in that's when I started savoring the sound
I've been watching rose give in to it severing the ties between mother and son [x2]
Know things look lovely to you
Holding back, now and forever sweetheart
know things look lovely lonely boy
holding for midnight and I deny
You were walking so peculiar like you had something to hide(still so deadly)[x2]
Sweet penance for a sound - it might explode in our hands (it might explode) [x2] oh, I once saw many place the end, I promised the world and a dozen roses. [x2]

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>