Just Because

the telephones

I take you in and I hold my breath
Try to save the time that?s passing by
And if you came to say goodbye
A thousand summers would never dry
Every tear that touched my face
And they don?t laugh the way you do
And they don?t smile the way you do
And their eyes don?t shine the way yours do
I love, love, I love you just because I love, love, love, love you just because Without the words to fall back on
I?m afraid it?s hopeless to describe
And if I tried, I?d probably steer you wrong
'Cause a thousand phrases would never say
How I feel today
And they don?t laugh the way you do
And they don?t smile the way you do
And their eyes don?t shine the way yours do
I love, I love, I love you just because I love, love, love, love, love you just because I love, love, love, love, love
Love, love, love you just, just because
