

Through the Ghost

Shinedown

Speak of the devil, look who just walked into the room.
The guilty and faded notion of someone I once knew.
All the perfect moments are wrong.
All the precious pieces are gone.
Everything that mattered is just a city of dust...covering both of us.
Did you hide yourself away?
I can't see you anymore.
Did you eclipse another day?
I used to wake up to the color of your soul.
Did you hide yourself away?
Are you living through the ghost?
Did you finally find a place above the shadows
So, the world will never know...
The world will never know you like I do.
So many silent sorrows you'll never hear from again
And now that you lost tomorrow,
Is yesterday still a friend?
All the bridges we built were burned,
Not a single lesson was learned.
Everything that mattered is just a city a dust...covering both of us.
Did you hide you yourself away?
I can't see you anymore.
Did you eclipse another day?
I used to wake up to the color of your soul.
Did you hide yourself away?
Are you living through the ghost?
Did you finally find a place above the shadow
So, the world will never know...
The world will never know you...like I do.
Like I still do...
Did you hide yourself away?
I can't see you anymore.
Did you eclipse another day?
I used to wake up to the color of your soul.
Color of your soul...
Did you hide yourself away?
Are you living through the ghost?
Did you finally find a place above the shadow
So, the world will never know...

The world will never know you.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>