Arctica

Amberian Dawn

In the genesis of the world
Just the arctic wind was blowing.
Something came into paradise,
The everlasting snow melted away.Arctica!
You start to think there is something greater than humankind.
Arctica!
The world is crying and the streams are telling how things went wrong.Sorrow and worry of humankind
Sad stories to find.
The world is growing ice again,
Covering the faults of the human race!Arctica!
You start to think there is something greater than humankind.
Arctica!
The world is crying and the streams are telling how things went wrong.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/