

Solitary Ground (Orchestral Version)

Epica

Living at different places
Evading into various places
My compass has broken
I'm losing the way An ongoing madness has led me astray
In me there's still a place that fulfills me
A sanctity here that I call home, I run to
When winter descends If I try, can I find solid ground?
I follow elusive paths
Oh, it seems they've been written in stone
And the door to a new life is closing so fast
Burning the bridges will not bring me back
In me there's still a place that fulfills me
A sanctity here that I call home, I run to
When winter descends If I try, can I find solid ground?
In me there's still a place that fulfills me
A sanctity here that I call home, I run to
When winter descends
If I try, can I find solid ground?
I know that in me there's still a place that fulfills me
A sanctity here that I call home, I run to
When winter descends
If I try, can I find solid ground?
Or am I just wasting time?

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>