I Thought You Knew

Bloom

I'd follow you, like a bridge to the end of the world
I'd take you with me everywhere I go girl
But you ran from love, like a bullet from a gun
That powder burned my heart deep as this desert sun
You never told me it was over, you never told me anything at all
Now I'm out on the road and I'm asking myself why
I never told you that my love was true
Well I thought you know, Yeah I thought you knew
Heard it from the motel man, you were here two nights ago
That means I'm closing in, on my last chance to let you know
That I'm sorry girl, for the things I guess I didn't say
But i'll keep searching for you til my dying day

Now I'm out on the road and I'm asking myself why
I never told you that my love was true
Well I thought you knew
I thought you knew I meant forever
Even though I never, said the things i needed to
But I , I'm out on the road and asking myself why
I'm out on the road and I'm asking myself why
I never told you that my love was true
Well, I thought you knew
Yeah I thought you knew
Girl I thought you know, I thought you knew
As the sunlight fades, and the sky turns black from blue
I know one of those sets of tail lights just might be you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/