Youth Like Tigers

Ever We Fall

Look what we've done
Years have past, but this is all still fun
And all of it just feels right
So don't tell me I'm wrongThe place we go where no one knew
With half open eyes and resting hearts
Series of stars slowly breaking through
A collage of lights, lives, and history
Ditch Johnny in the Camry the evidence?
We'd be burying it
Getting into fights at picture shows
This is how we livedLook what we've done
Years have past, but this is all still fun
And all of it just feels right
So don't tell me I'm wrongWith the weight of the world on our shoulders
We will push again, and again
We will grow up on our own terms
Our life is all our ownAnd would a worry conceive?
Not on these weekend nights
With mischief to cause
No sign of fear tonightLook what we've done
Years have past, but this is all still fun
And all of it just feels right
So don't tell me I'm wrongWith the weight of the world on our shoulders
We will push again, and again
We will grow up on our own terms
Our life is all our own
