

Livan

Weesp

Looked once more at the back door,
Unclaimed and dissapointed.
Made a step ahead face the skies turns red,
I've made in a bet with everything i had.ouhh.. beautiful world.
ouhh.. beautiful life.I asked the bones - they use to never lie.
The bricks and stones - the truth have been denied.I brought it to that rotten place
I once called home but everything's now strange.
I yelled and plead in horror and dispare - but noone ever care.
Abandoned in the dark, surrounded by the sharks.I asked the bones - they use to never lie.
The bricks and stones - the truth have been denied.
Bring me back in my youth
And hide me from the truth I wish I never know.Misinterpret and wrested truth in false books we were fed!
Stop talking shit about the apes, why and by whom we were made?I asked the bones - they use to never lie.
The bricks and stones - the truth have been denied.
Bring me back in my youth
And hide me from the truth I wish I never know.ouhh.. beautiful world.
ouhh.. beautiful life.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>