

Trigger

Deaf Havana

So tired, of being tired and drunk and lonely

And I hate myself in the morning

Yeah so much more in the morningWhen the guilt swirls in my stomach

And my heart beats through my ears

And all the little things that I ignore

They seem to be more realI held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all go

I held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all goAnd all the records

I've been playing, they tell me to stay this way

And all the ones I love give up on me

They try their hardest and fail so miserablyI held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all go

I held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all go

My heart was fast but your hand was quicker and we watched it all go

I held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all go, it all goMy timeline is running out fast

My future will never be my past

And I still can't work out how to make my money last

And all the things I thought that I could be

Get less and less as each new day beginsI held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all go

I held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all go

My heart was fast but your hand was quicker and we watched it all go

I held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all goI held the gun but you pulled the trigger and we watched it all go
