You're My Spring

Triosence

Time flies away like falling leaves
Again, spring has come
Life has reason to bloom
As it wakes to morning's kiss
Stretching its colors and hues
All is born anew
Well this time you're my springNo blade of grass could ever hope to rise
Without the sun's adoring eyes
Change for the good reminds us that
Again, spring has come
Life is turning to love
And I think it could be spring, forever
Your eyes could shine away the gloom
It seems love has sprung
I have reason to bloom
As I wake to morning's kiss
Exploring your colors and hues
I feel born anew
'Cause this time you're my springNo baby bird could ever hope to fly
Without the caring hand of the sky
Change for the good reminds us that
Again, spring has come
Life is turning to love
And I think it could be spring...
