Dead Silence

Billy Talent

Living underneath the land of sorrow
I can hear the bombs reign down
And how do I explain there's no tomorrow
I can hardly make a soundDead Silence! A fate we can't escape

'til death do us part in the endThey're marching up the main street, as my heart beats

Louder than machine gun fire

The sound of all the sirens, sing like violins

Rattling the cold barbwireI heard the soldiers say, 'Don't let him get away!'

But I could not escape their bullets and grenades

A casualty of war? a victim of mistake?

Another widow has been madeDead silence, will come to rescue me

When violence, has took this world away

Dead silence, a fate we can't escape

'til death do us part in the endDead silence, will come to rescue me

When violence, has took this world away

Dead Silence, no time to be afraid

My love I will see you againFly away like the wind, some things God can't forgive

Why is war justified, while the innocent die?

They can tear us apart, I'll still live in your heart

If your spirit gives up, don't surrender your loveAnd the world will survive, if we stand side by side One day hope will arrive, but now I must say goodbyeDead silence, will come to rescue me

When violence, has took this world away

Dead silence, a fate we can't escape

'til death do us part in the endDead silence, will come to rescue me

When violence, has took this world away

Dead Silence, no time to be afraid

My love I will see you again
