Latest Mistake

Mandy Moore

There is part of me that wants an answer
A part of me that doesn't wanna know
A part of you that I am in love with
And the part that I am willing to let go
This is a delicate unraveling
Now and then I find pieces on the floor
Tiny little bits that tell me
Well, maybe I shouldn't take this
Or love you anymore
Someone's gonna have to fess up
Someone's gonna have to clean this mess up
I wanted you the first time
I loved you from the second
Don't know how that ever goes away
And as far as I can tell
You're really good at talking
I think it's time you let me know
I'm just your latest mistake
Wonder what will make you happy
I wonder what you'll do with it all
'Cause I have a map in my head
Somehow I still don't understand
Why I always have to miss you
Why I have to make the call?
Someone's gonna have to step up
Someone's gonna have to clean this mess up
I wanted you the first time
I loved you from the second
Don't know how that ever goes away
And as far as I can tell
You're really good at talking
I think it's time you let me know
I'm just your latest mistake
Before you drive me away
Take a good look at me, baby
Picture me not lying on your couch
I wish the best for you
Every time you go through this
Before you finally have figured it out

'Cause I wanted you the first time
I loved you from the second
I don't know how that ever goes away
And as far as I can tell
You're really good at talking
Now I think it's time you let me know, babe
I think it's time you let me know
I'm just your latest, I'm just your latest mistake
Oh, I'm just your latest mistake

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/