

Symbolic

Death

I don't mean to dwell
But I can't help myself
When I feel the vibe
And taste a memory one time in life
When years seemed to stand still When I close my eyes
And sink within myself
Relive the gift of precious memories
In need of a fix called innocence When did it begin?
The change to come was undetectable
The open wounds expose
The importance of our innocence
A high that can never be bought or sold Symbolic acts, so vivid
Yet at the same time were invisible Savor, what you feel and what you see
Things that may not seem important now
But maybe tomorrow Do you remember when Things seemed so eternal?
Heroes were so real
When their magic frozen in time
The only way to learn
Is be aware and hold on tight I close my eyes
And sink within myself
Relive the gift of precious memories
In need of a fix called innocence When did it begin?
The change to come was undetectable
The open wounds expose
The importance of our innocence
A high that can never be bought or sold Symbolic acts, so vivid
Yet at the same time were invisible
